

Spring Election Monday, April 3rd

Next Monday, April 3rd, Michigan voters are again privileged to exercise the right of suffrage in the selection of state, county, township and city officials. Many will be governed by their political faith, without consideration of the merits of the candidates. However right and how ever wrong voters may be, still they are not to be denied the right to vote as they desire to do so.

The great danger is when people fail to vote. It may be assured that the politicians will see to it that their controlled voters will be out in full force, while the indifferent but vitally effected citizen remains at home on election day.

Every election is important enough to demand the interest of every voter and none should fail to do his duty by not voting.

In the state election the only hotly contested campaign is that directed against Harry Kipke for the office of Regent of University. There is no doubt about Mr. Kipke's sincerity and his desire to have a part in the administration of the great university of which he played an important part for many years. We doubt if anyone questions his integrity when he says that he has no prejudice against the U. of M. because of his being dismissed as football coach. He loves his alma mater and the interests of the University are dear to him. The thing that looks bad is that his candidacy at the state convention that nominated him was dominated by men of the stripe of Barnard, McKay and McKee-gan. If elected we believe that Mr. Kipke isn't going to be influenced by them. We have that faith in him.

There is no contest on the county ballot, and Mrs. Payne's election as commissioner of schools is assured.

Frederic township is the only one having two parties—Peoples and Citizens. The principal issue there seems to be between George Horton, the present supervisor, and Lyle Duncley, a former supervisor. And to further complicate that issue, Kendall Welch is a sticker candidate for the same office.

In Lovells township, Ray Duby, the present supervisor who lost the nomination in the caucus by one vote to Austin Scott, believes he can win in the election by running on slips.

City of Grayling
It doesn't look as tho there would be much change, if any, in the city council. We believe the people feel that the present council was instrumental in promoting the municipal ownership of an electric light and power plant and they should complete the job.

While there are no exciting issues to call out the voters, still there should be a heavy vote in the city and every township in the county.

Be sure to VOTE next Monday.

Our New Governor

(From Hastings Banner)

When Luren Dickinson took the oath of office at his modest farm home near Charlotte last week, he reached the high point in one of the most unusual political careers of our time.

Mr. Dickinson has probably spent much less on politics during his entire lifetime than the average candidate for state office spends on one primary campaign.

Although an ardent dry, the rising tide of repeal did not affect his following. Wet and dry communities alike contributed to his majorities. In the last election, he soundly thrashed a number of younger aspirants for the nomination for lieutenant governor and then went on to lead his ticket in the general election.

Yet Mr. Dickinson is not never has been the sort of hale fellow well met which one associates with the term "popular". Your average politician steeped in the ways of "practical" politics would probably say that a career like Mr. Dickinson's couldn't be. But year after year he has confounded political leaders with his victories.

The root of Mr. Dickinson's success is his personal integrity. His name is synonymous with honesty to thousands of voters. In fact, he is not so much a person to them as a symbol.

As one person aptly put it, he has never been under obligations, political or otherwise, to anyone save God Almighty.

Thus he takes over the duties of governor with absolutely no "strings" tied to him. He has accepted no favors. He is under no obligations to the small, compact coterie which manipulates the party conventions—in fact he was secretly opposed (or at least cussed) by them. He has made no promises. There is no dark spot, nor even a suspicion of one, in his record.

The new governor, needless to say, is faced with a difficult task. It would tax the strength of a much younger man. Many have voiced the opinion that a man past eighty years will never be able to stand the strain. Factors in Mr. Dickinson's favor, however, are that he comes of a tough, pioneering stock and has always lived a clean, wholesome life.

It is doubtful that Mr. Dickinson will be "run" by any individual or group. Probably he will seek his own council and act according to his own convictions. Those who know him best say that he still possesses a keen mind and has an unusual insight into the workings of the state government.

If Michigan's venerable governor is faced with a difficult job, he also has a wonderful opportunity to clean the state of certain influences which certainly do not contribute to wholesome government—or at least to hold them in check.

It is our opinion that those who expect the new governor to be brushed easily aside are going to be disappointed. Mr. Dickinson is not that type. He always has had, and probably will have to his dying day, the courage of his convictions.

Possibly his elevation to the governorship may mark a turning point in the tone of state affairs.

Airport Notes

The club ship is to be delivered at the Capital City Airport at Lansing, Mich., Tuesday and be delivered to Grayling as soon as the hangar is up.

Alfred Hanson flew to Cincinnati last week with Mr. Steers and Mr. B. B. Soules where the latter picked up his new ship, an Aeronca, the same as the club ship. While there Mr. Hanson saw the factory complete the club ship and it was to be test flown Monday morning. Mr. Hanson said it sure is a beautiful ship. In flying home Mr. Hanson and Mr. Soules spent the night at Dayton Airport, Ohio, and flew to Lansing, Mich., the next day.

The Club and State also wish to thank Mr. Schumann for his cooperation in helping us put this club across.

Our new hangar will be started this week and we also wish to thank the City in helping us build it.

A meeting will be held this week in order to incorporate the club and to pick the club officers. A talk will be given by Col. Floyd E. Evans in regards to our club and how to keep things running smoothly.

MICHELSON MEMORIAL CHURCH

Palm Sunday, April 2, 1939

At 10:00 a. m.—Sunday School class in catechism.

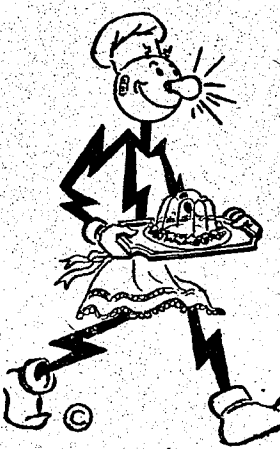

At 11:00 a. m.—Public Worship.

A feature of this service will be a violin ensemble, an appropriate anthem and "The Palms" in a duet by Mrs. Roy Milnes and Mrs. Harold Jarmin. The sermon topic for this occasion will be "Grayling's Welcome To The Savior." Let us make this a memorable day.

Next week on Monday we have a Worker's Conference at Gaylord. We trust several loads of our people will be able to attend. Also we have services at our church at 7:30 o'clock Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday. On Good Friday our service will be held at 2:00 p. m. It is hoped that we make plans for these services and that we avail ourselves of the opportunities these meetings afford.

APRIL FOOLS' DAY

For almost four centuries practical jokers have had one day each year—April 1st—in which to victimize their friends.

Thought to have originated in France in connection with the calendar reformation of 1564, All Fools' day spread rapidly and today is observed in many lands, particularly our own. Even the children aren't safe. This lad, finding the jam jar, is unpleasantly surprised when a five-foot "snake" lunges at him.

Smokers, natural prey of tricksters, have good cause to be wary. Here an exploding match, handed the unhappy smoker, adds little to his enjoyment.

Whenever a harassed guest strikes a match, all the remaining matches in this trick box jump out. The polite guest, often unaware, will pick them up again. The hardened practical joker appreciates this.

No matter how steady your nerves, it is disconcerting to have a repulsive looking snake leap at you when a friend offers you a light from his new mechanical lighter.

Many an enterprising youth would find the day incomplete unless some hapless passerby sprained a couple of toes kicking aside a hat, which incidentally conceals an obstinate brick.

Saddle Ski
The Stoverly Co.
Detroit, Michigan.
March 15, 1939

Mr. O. P. Schumann
Crawford County Avalanche, Grayling, Michigan.
Dear Mr. Schumann:

Please accept our sincere thanks for your cooperation and interest in staging the first annual Michigan Saddle Ski Championships. The contest provoked a lot of interest and we have received a number of inquiries from other towns about a contest next year as a result of the publicity from this year.

From my observation here, Grayling was more in the public eye as the outstanding winter spot of the state this year than ever before. With your plans for development and expansion for the next few years, coupled with a greatly increasing interest in outdoor winter fun, it is inevitable that your park should become the outstanding winter play center of the Mid-west.

Your park has been built on a basis of participation, in contrast to other parks where a program is planned more for the spectator, and this, to my mind, is the reason for the splendid word-of-mouth advertising you are receiving around the state at present. It is only reasonable to expect that the man who spends four or five hours on a train wants to find, when he arrives, adequate facilities to enjoy the natural facilities the North can provide; and the success of any park is in direct proportion to its ability to provide a variety of equipment to allow every visitor ample opportunity to thoroughly enjoy his stay there.

We believe the Saddle Ski helps to fill this need for activity equipment, especially to the large majority of your visitors who are not especially skilled in the use of skis and skates and find the toboggan slides crowded to the point that they must either wait their turn in line or be completely inactive.

We found Grayling typically progressive in accepting a modern form of an old idea and we were impressed with the general hospitality and cooperation with which our efforts were met.

Best wishes for the continued leadership of Grayling as a winter sports center.

Very truly yours,
George Stover.

Far Flung Fires

Smoke from the Phillips and Hinckley forest fires in Wisconsin in 1894 was so dense on the Great Lakes that it interfered seriously with the movement of vessels. During the Silverton fire of 1885 in Oregon the air was filled as though with a dense fog and there were eight to ten inches of ashes on the burned areas, which covered probably 1,000,000 acres. Settlers in Silverton read newspapers at night by the light of this conflagration, says the American Wildlife Institute. The year 1910 is historic throughout the West as one of unprecedented forest fires. Washington and Oregon lost millions of acres. The wind was so strong that in some cases the fire was actually blown out. Smoke was sighted 300 miles out at sea and a British ship reported the smell of smoke 500 miles west of San Francisco and a haze interfering with nautical observations for more than a week.

Early Cremations

The first cremation in America took place in 1792, when Col. Henry Laurens, president of the Continental congress of 1777-78, a member of General Washington's military staff and one of the four commissioners who arranged the peace treaty with England after the Revolution, was cremated, according to directions left in his will, on his estate at Charleston, S. C. A week later the body of a close friend of his was the second cremation in this country. The first crematorium in America was erected in Washington, Pa., in 1876 by Dr. Francis Julius Le Moine.

No Such Thing as 'Wind-Burn'

When people talk of wind-burn they are talking about something that does not exist. Scientists at New York university found by test that wind does not produce chapping or redness of the skin, but that it merely makes the action of the sun greater by reducing the moisture of the skin. Wind itself does not redden the skin, but it helps the sun to do it. The ultra-violet rays of the sun cause sunburn, and these act more violently on skin that has been dried with the wind.

Valparaiso an Old City

"Valparaiso" is Spanish for "Vale of Paradise." The city of this name is the chief seaport of Chile. Its origin dates back to 1535. It is beautifully situated. Immediately behind the shore the hills begin to rise, reaching a height of 1,000 feet. The city, containing more than 250,000 people, is built on these hillsides. On clear days, Mt. Aconcagua, the highest point on this hemisphere, can be seen, towering above its Andean brothers.

WHAT WOULD WE HAVE DONE?

The welfare department is out of money. Those depending upon assistance from that source are up against it and the local administrator has to endure all the protests in spite of the fact that she regrets the circumstances just as much as those needing aid. Those in the welfare office regret that welfare is needed just as do those taxpayers who feel the pinch of the immense tax burden that this has imposed upon them.

"What would you do about it, if you were in our places," we were asked. We replied that we would probably do just as they were doing, if it were our responsibility. We believe the local administrator has done a good job and deserves credit for it, instead of criticism.

We were asked what we would have done on the outset of this emergency, in 1933. We replied that that was an emergency and must be handled quickly in order to give to humanity the aid and succor that was so seriously needed. But why was this condition allowed to continue all these years, we asked. We have had six years of it; the government has spent nearly 20 billions of dollars in providing jobs and aiding those in need, and today, if all those on the welfare and those employed on WPA projects and various other benevolences were dismissed, there would be more people out of work today than there were in 1933, according to good authority.

"What would have been your remedy," we were asked. Older people have been thru depressions in former years but they have nearly all been of short duration, and in each instance, as we well remember, the cure was "a full dinner pail" with factories running full time and men and women going to work.

Large industrialists haven't always been fair to their employees, yet still just about everyone wanting work was able to get it, and at fair wages. There were good jobs to be had, there was work to do and everyone was happy and making a comfortable living.

Instead of persecuting capital and industry and placing increased tax burdens upon them, these institutions should have been encouraged to go full speed ahead. Had this been done we feel confident that the need of welfare would have been gradually decreased as employment increased. People would have been more independent and as a result there would have been more happiness throughout the nation. We know that honest working men would rather earn their own living than to have to depend upon a dole.

Industry has been taxed to the limit and many are just striving to keep their plants from having to be closed entirely. Restrictions and penalties have been applied until capitalists are afraid to venture money into investments. We believe that if manufacturers had confidence in this administration as to the kind of treatment they were to get, that industry would again pull this country out of the hole. Certainly increased spending isn't going to do it, as has been amply proven during the past six years.

As it is, here we are with a depleted treasury, taxes sky high and no work. Can anyone imagine anything more deplorable? We can hardly believe that there will be national bankruptcy, but the condition is a sorrowful one. We must not overlook the humanitarian side of this matter; people must not have to starve nor suffer. We're in it and it's going to take a long time to get back on our feet. We've got to continue on with the dole until such time that confidence in government can be restored; factory whistles begin to blow and the dinner pail of the factory worker has been restored.

VOTE YES ON BOTH AMENDMENTS

Two amendments will be presented the voters at the April 3rd election.

Proposal No. 1 pertains to the non-partisan election by the people of justices of the supreme court, circuit judges, judges of probate and circuit court commissioners.

Proposal No. 2 would amend the constitution so as to authorize the vesting in circuit court commissioners with like judicial powers as are exercised by justices of the peace. We believe that the passing of these amendments would accrue to the improvement of our judiciary. In proposal No. 2 we believe there would be a decided improvement in the competency of our justice courts.

Let's see how many people in this locality are really interested in the destinies of their lakes and streams.

SEE MANY DEER

One has only to drive on highway M-93, leading to the military reservation, to see great groups of deer. The writer has frequently seen anywhere up to 30 deer within a five mile trip, but they seem to be more plentiful this year than ever before.

Last week Friday, at about 6 p. m. we had just passed the winter sports park when we began to see groups of deer. Continuing on to the Colleen landing, we counted over 100. There were so many that the count became confusing and we had to give it up. Beyond Colleen's as far as the rifle range we saw no more deer. On our return trip, there seemed to be more deer than we encountered before. Not far from the detour highway at the winter park there was a herd of at least 50 deer.

It was a thrilling sight to witness these beautiful animals as they, hunger crazed, enjoyed tufts of grass and fresh browse. The woods where they, apparently, had spent the winter, were deep with snow and the open spaces where the snow had melted afforded food aplenty. The deer seemed healthy but were quite thin.

PINOCHLE TOURNAMENT COMES TO CLOSE

Last evening the pinochle tournament that has been staged between the Masons and the American Legion came to a close with a feed at the Legion hall.

The Masons had challenged the Legionnaires to the tournament, but the latter proved to have some good players and they outscored them each evening except last night when the Masons were topnotchers. High score men for the series were Charles Meisel for the Legion and George Hilton for the Masons.

The feed was the big feature with baked ham sandwiches and baked beans, the crowd of some 30, devouring a 17-pound ham in no time. Fred Bishaw was the chef and he knows how to prepare a feed and it was fine.

This series of card games, an evening a week for 10 weeks, was very much enjoyed. It gave the fellows a chance to rub shoulders with each other and created a fine spirit of good fellowship. The tournament between the two organizations was the thought of Carl Peterson and it tended to bring about many warm friendships.

Voice of the People

I think our Democratic friends are due a great deal of commendation for their generous, sentimental decision to call off their public campaign rallies out of respect to the memory of the late Governor Frank D. Fitzgerald.

Everyone knows how much the Democrats would like to score a victory in the April 3 election, yet they are foregoing the opportunity of parading their candidates before the public at rallies already planned and which would have been productive of much publicity for them.

In these days of bitter personal politics, it is a pleasure to note this splendid sportsmanship on the part of the Democratic party.

John Brunn arrived home
Monday from a six weeks visit abroad. He visited his mother in Denmark. He was also in France,
Germany and England. He reports the war situation in these countries and Russia as serious, and there is much apprehension
as to what Hitler may do next.

A good job of decorating was done at the Hanson Cafe. Pure white enamel with a cream molding make a pleasing combination.
The electric fixtures too were polished so that this is probably the most epic and span cafe that can be found in Northern Michigan. Claude Cardinal did the work. Mr. and Mrs. Bennett believe in spending some of their earnings for keeping up-to-date.

Gorman was destroyed by fire
Friday morning. Mr. Gorman road and ran into the swamp and was soon in flames. Luckily he escaped uninjured. The accident happened on M-93 four miles northeast of Grayling.

Several days of spring weather thawed the huge banks of snow so, that the ground was bare in most places, and the temperature has ranged around 20 above since Sunday. However it began snowing again last night and about an inch had fallen.

The Michigan Mirror

Non-partisan News Letter
Michigan Press Association
By GENE ALLEMAN

Michigan's "man of the hour" is Luren D. Dickinson.

The new governor of the state took the oath of office at 8:20 a. m. Friday, March 17, under circumstances that were strangely similar to those under which Calvin Coolidge, tight-lipped economy-loving Vermonter, assumed officially the obligations as President of the United States sixteen years ago.

The scene of both ceremonies was a farmhouse. Simplicity prevailed to an old-fashioned spartan degree.

"I am humbled by this new responsibility," the new executive said. And being governor was not going to make any difference in his creed of living; he said he would continue to teach his Sunday school class, health permitting; he would continue to decline invitations to social affairs on Sunday, which he and his wife always observed as the Sabbath, not a holiday.

The remarks were typical of the man's personal wholesomeness which is supported by a lifetime of clean living.

Sternness in Morality

In matters of public morality, Governor Dickinson will be stern and unyielding.

As vice-president of the National Anti-Saloon league and a prominent layman of the Methodist Episcopal church, he will countenance no compromise with gambling. In his inaugural address before the State Senate, Dickinson warned that America may invite the fate that befell ancient Greece and Rome if it tolerates corruption and immorality.

"The vehement outcry from every locality of our own state," he said, "are uttering vociferous demands that we purge our state of these gambling leeches, habits of our fairs, races, resorts and roadsides."

Much as he favors home-rule responsibility, the governor will not tolerate gambling. In fact, it is almost inconceivable that the question would ever have arisen in 1939 if he had possessed supreme executive powers.

Economy to be Emphasized

A man who has always lived simply, Governor Dickinson exemplifies the watchword of economy which Fitzgerald carried to the capital city.

It was noticeable that in the first legislative session, after the tragic loss of the party's leader, the House of Representatives voted almost unanimously to curtail the spending of the four tourist associations, reducing their appropriation from $25,000 to $20,000 a year. At the same hour the Senate sliced more than a million dollars from appropriations there, easily outdoing their colleagues in a staunch stand for economy.

Again Michigan's "Coolidge" may be well expected to hew closely to the economy line.

Home pressure groups, no matter what their interests may be, will be treated alike by the governor. His whole life has been predicated on economy which will hold in all his official action.

Liquor Control

Although the new governor hates the liquor business, legalized as it is, yet he will probably take a realistic viewpoint on the course of wisdom for 1939.

The state treasury now receives on an average of eight million dollars revenue for the state's part in controlling the sale of liquor. In a year when an administration is struggling to overcome a big deficit and to balance the budget, thus putting its financial house in order, the loss of eight millions would be a major blow.

The new governor is known to look with disfavor on the state's participation in the liquor business, even if nominally for the purpose of control. While he would not trade morality for money, it is believed that the pressing demand for economy will be given temporary preference at this time.

The governor took great delight, as one of his first acts, in signing a bill requiring temperance education in the public schools. Education of the evils of alcohol, together with strict enforcement of the present law, will likely form his 1939 policy on this question.

No Political Debts

In the field of political action, the new governor is singularly free of political debts.

It is being said freely at Lansing that he owes no obligations to vote manipulators such as Edward Barnard, wealthy attorney in Wayne county, and Frank McKay, influential industrialist in Kent county, who pooled their delegate strength at the Grand Rapids and Flint conventions.

To that extent, it now appears that these gentlemen are out at the end of the proverbial limb. The legal possibility that a succession of responsibility might impose the mantle of official duties on Harry Kelly, secretary of state, has not been received joyously by the Wayne county Republican boss. Kelly owes his job solely to the insistence of Fitzgerald that he (Kelly) be given a place somewhere in the slate-making. Reliable information is that Kelly is independent. A front-line fighter in France during the World War, the Detroit secretary of state likes to scrap. It all fits nicely into the rapidly changed picture at Lansing.

Canny Observer

Legislative leaders who know the new governor intimately agree that he possesses remarkable mental powers for a man of nearly four score years. His ability to handle detail work has always been apparent. He has a memory for names and faces that is distinctly above the ordinary. More than one veteran legislator 20 to 25 years his junior has declared: "Dickinson's mind is a lot keener than mine."

From his long experience in public affairs, having been lieutenant governor so many years that he has become an "institution" to people in small towns and rural areas—in general, Michigan's middle class, Dickinson has acquired a canny sense of reacting to public opinion.

He may be expected to proceed cautiously. He has already indicated that it might be wise to concentrate legislative attention to four major problems: Civil service, labor relations, welfare and budget-balancing.

Just as the legislative trend two years ago was sharply to the left, leaving a $18,000,000 red-ink mark for Frank Murphy to worry about, so the 1939 legislature appears to have swung the other way. The net result, among the four issues, may well be a conservative labor law (taking advantage of the Lewis-Martin C.I.O. feud) and a sharp slash in state spending. The economy trend, if continued, would justify in the eyes of administration leaders a lessening of civil service control, putting fewer state employees under its rules, and a tightening up of the purse strings for welfare expenditures.

Dependence on Advisors

Because of the physical limitations imposed by his age, together with the general desire of party leaders to protect him against strains of the office, Governor Dickinson will depend to a greater extent than recent executives on administrative assistants and advisors.

The brunt of work is being divided among such men as Emerson R. Boyles, legal advisor; Leslie B. Butler, secretary to the governor; Gilbert Shilson, "secretary without pay" pending outcome of the utility commission case in court; and the ranking chairmen of important committees in both the Senate and House.

Senator Felix H. H. Flynn, president pro tem of the Senate, is one of the governor's intimate friends.

The moving finger writes, and Michigan's octogenarian governor, Coolidge-like in his credo of life, is the new man of the hour. Interesting history is still in the making.

NO MORE NIGHTMARE

The "spud" is no longer a cause of nightmares for the men of the 138th regiment of the Missouri National Guard, assigned to kitchen police duty. A bushel-size potato peeling machine which whirled the potatoes between abrasives, wearing down the potatoes instead of the enlisted men, has been installed in the regiment's armory at St. Louis.

Facts Concerning Old Age Assistance

(By Miles M. Callaghan, Senator, 28th District)

I have received so many inquiries with reference to Old Age Assistance that it is impossible to answer them all by the way of a personal letter, so I am sending this circular to all interested persons containing the information I have at hand, some of the matter having been furnished by the Old Age Assistance Bureau through Dr. Philip Callahan, the Director, and through other sources of information.

Some time about a year and a half ago the department ceased paying any more old age assistance benefits, a re-survey was made and every recipient for this old age assistance was interviewed and investigated and in most cases, the amounts received were reduced and finally the Old Age Assistance Bureau on their own initiative took $1.00 from each check in addition to the reduction made by the investigator. Some time late in October of 1938 this $1.00 reduction was restored by the Bureau of Old Age Assistance.

When the new administration came in and Dr. Callahan made Director, it was discovered that 28,000 unapproved applications for old age assistance were in the files and a large part of these applications dated as far back as 1937. Now the great task before the bureau is to have these 28,000 pending applications investigated and approved or disapproved as the case may be and the director of the bureau figures that from 17,000 to 20,000 would be approved, that is about the average as shown by the books since the bureau has been in operation.

As I see it one of the shortcomings of the former Director was that the applicants were not notified by the bureau that their applications had been received, in fact no information was given out as to what had happened to the application, and no information with regard to the document was given out. This caused widespread unrest and dissatisfaction as the applicant had no way of knowing as to whether or not the application was being considered and I am informed by Dr. Callahan, the Director, that some method is being worked out to keep the applicant informed as to the progress of the investigation and this will be welcomed by everybody. The department is now paying 71,000 grants per month and the eligible applicants among the 28,000 pending applications will be taken care of at the earliest possible moment.

If the money is available the department figures that they can approve 5,000 applications a month. If this ratio can be maintained the approved applications could be acted on favorably within the next three or four months and those rejected returned to their local office so that the applicant might be informed, and they could appeal from the decision of the department if they so desired.

The bureau figures that if the legislature will appropriate $500,000 and the Federal government match that amount they will have $1,000,000 to take care of the approved applications and a bill appropriating this $500,000 is expected to pass the legislature within the next week or ten days and when this money has been appropriated and made available to the old age assistance bureau, payments to the applicants could commence at once. Of course, the real sensible way to do in my opinion was to take care of the emergency cases first, but the Federal Social Security Board insists that these applications must be handled on the basis of the date that the application was received, the word they use is, chronological order, which means first come, first served.

The applicants themselves may help materially and hasten the great task before the bureau if before the investigator calls they will have ready to present to him, their proof of age by some kind of a document, birth certificate, if possible, life insurance policy, marriage record if the age is given, or some other documentary proof to establish the fact that they have arrived at the age of 65 years as prescribed in the act. Also proof that they have resided in Michigan at least one year before the application was made and they must have lived in Michigan at least five years in the last nine years and I am advised by the department that they expect to allow the time lapsed since the application was made to apply on their time of residence in Michigan. The question has often been asked, "Is a person not a citizen of the United States eligible for old age assistance?" The answer is "Yes", if no other residence disqualification exists. Another thing that will help in making the investigation is that they have at hand the postoffice address of sons and daughters, as well as brothers and sisters, and if the applicants have these facts at hand it will hurry the approval of their application for old age assistance.

NOTE:—A bill appropriating $500,000 to match an equal amount from the Federal government is now on the Governor's desk for signature.

Song With Different Tunes
Nahum Tate (1652-1715), son of an Irish clergyman, wrote in 1702, "While Shepherds Watched Their Flocks by Night," at a time when it was considered almost sacrilegious to sing "human compositions" in church. The song has the unusual distinction of being used with at least five different tunes, although the one by Handel is the one generally preferred.
